DELHI-110007

ADMISSION TO THE M.Phil PROGRAMME IN SOCIOLOGY
Academic Year 2019-2020

Please consult the Bulletin of Information for Admission to the MPhil/PhD programmes posted on the University of Delhi web portal for all University wide admission information. The Department specific information is listed below:

- All applicants must FIRST REGISTER ON THE UNIVERSITY ADMISSIONS PORTAL. The department, as per University rules CANNOT CONSIDER those who have not registered on the Portal (including those exempted from the Entrance Test). This includes the submission of a RESEARCH PROPOSAL, as per University Ordinance.
- As per University ordinance, the department retains the right to conduct additional department specific entrance related procedures, which will include an interview. A list of applicants who are eligible to appear for the department specific entrance procedures will be uploaded on this website in due course.
- ALL Applicants (including those exempted from the Entrance Test) who are eligible to appear for the department specific procedures MUST submit a RESEARCH PROPOSAL to the department. All such applicants will have to submit a copy of the research proposal, as submitted in the University Admissions Portal, to email id: sociomphil2019@gmail.com
- All relevant dates for department specific procedures like submission of proposals, interview dates etc. will be updated on this website.

MAXIMUM NUMBER OF CANDIDATES TO BE ADMITTED 2019-2020: 20
(Twenty)

Please see Note below

IMPORTANT NOTE

Please note that because there is no fixed number of seats to be filled. The number of candidates admitted depends on their suitability and preparedness for research at this level, the availability of faculty members interested in the proposed research area who also have vacant slots, and so on. None of the eligibility conditions (including, for example, a JRF fellowship, etc.) can in themselves guarantee admission. The number of seats announced is a theoretical maximum; the actual number considered for admission can be less.

Selected candidates will be required to attend course work towards the MPhil.
